Mr. Stackhouse returned to Washington yesterday morning. He went to the house of representatives, which is only one block from his residence, and at 2 o'clock went home to luncheon. He complained of a slight attack of indigestion, but seemed to be in good spirits. He remained at home for a while, but returned to the house before the adjournment of that body. Representative Cate, of Arkansas, a member of the Farmers' Alliance, who has rooms in the hotel where Mr. Stackhouse stayed, says that the general did not return to the hotel for dinner. About 12 o'clock last night Mr. Cate was called to the rooms of Mr. Stackhouse, and was told that he was did. A physician was immediately summoned, but before he arrived Mr. Stackhouse was dend.

Pittsburg, Penn., June 14.—A special from Chicora, Penn., says about midnight fire broke out in McGinley's restaurant in this town, presumably from natural gas. The water supply gave out almost immediately and on account of the intense dry weather the buildings burned like tinder. Citizens called on the United Pipe Line station for assistance and succeeded in getting water from their pumps an hour and a half later. Buildings were torn down by the hook and ladder company and several blown up with dynamite. This, with the standard supply of water, succeeded in stopping the fire on one side of the street and gave the firemen more encouragement and they fought manfully, several being badly burned. One hundred buildings burned situated between Slippery Rock and Main streets, including the postoffice. The fire was gotten under control, having burned to the corner of Main street. Many families are homeless. It is thought no lives were lost.

Both men were cattle men of large business and wealthy. McCormick lived near Willow Springs, Kan., and Jones at Kingfisher, Oklahoma. Jones had boasted of his intimacy with Mrs. McCormick and that came to McCormick's ears and brought about the tragedy.

DEMOLISHING MOST OF THE HOUSES Blowing the Spires from Churches

About Two Hundred Thousand Dollars-The Killing of Olsen.

Galesburg, Ill., June 14.—There past brough the northeastern part of this (Knox) county about 9 o'clock yesterday vening a most destructive tornado, and ruin was left along its path. It seems to have first made its appearance northwest of Galva. About 7:30 o'clock two black, threatening clouds were noticed in the west approaching one another, and the tornado is thought to have resulted from this junction. Its course was south and east through that city and the main body of the storm passed along the main business streets of the city. It came with such suddenness that the citizens had no time in which to fly to places of safety. In the Free Methodist church there was assembled a congregation. In the rink there was gathering a committee to arrange for a 4th of July celebration. The church was quickly a mass of ruins, and the congregation was imprisoned. A number were injured, one dangerously. The rink also was blown down, but those inside managed to escape without injury. Had the storm come a few minutes later many would have have been in this building and loss of life would surely have resulted. That Terrible Roar.

The roar of the storm is described as terrible. It was accompanied by midnight darkness, and an awful sweep that carried everything before it. Nearly every business house along the principal streets was unroofed and stocks of goods were badly damaged by the floods of water following the tornado.

The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy roundhouse was totally wrecked. Barnett elevator, near by, was unroofed and 10,000 bushels of grain deluged with water. The Rock Island and Peoria elevator and a part of the depot went next. The tall steeple of the Baptist church was cut off as clean as by a knife and was hurled into the street. The Congregational church was also badly injured. Loss of Life.

The saddest feature occurred at Augusta Olsen's house. There were in the house at the time Mr. and Mrs. Olsen, Charles Olsen and four others. The residence collapsed, killing Olsen instantly. The others escaped by a miracle.

The place today was in a state of demor alization. Business was completely suspended, the streets being filled with debris of every description. The stores were more or less in ruins. Hardly a residence but what will need repairs. The damage is estimated at $200,000. Considering the

The usual routine work was being performed on board when, suddenly, there was a fiash, a tremendous roar, and the vessel was blown to pieces. Huge fragments of the deck and deckhouses were carried upwards to a great height. The shock of the explosion alarmed the town, and hundreds of persons rushed to the wharves to discover the cause of the noise, it being thought by many that the magazine of one of the forts defending Blaye had blown up. The river was strewn with wreckage from the Petrolia, and it was said that the disaster was due to an explosion of gas that had formed from the petroleum comprising her cargo.

Burning oil floated on the water. This drifted with the tide, and floating against several vessels, lying at anchor near by, set them on fire. Two or three other vessels were ignited by the burning oil that fell on their decks or tarred rigging. The Petrolia was purning furiously, and the field on their decks or tarred rigging. The Petrolia was purning furiously, and the field on their decks or tarred rigging. The Petrolia was purning steamer. Some of the more venturesome of the boatimen heard cries for help, and rowed closely as possible to the Petrolia. They succeeded in picking up sixteen of the crew and three of her engineers and second officer. Some of the rescued men, severely burned, were taken ashore as rapidly as possible, and physicians summoned to attend them.

The survivors said there were twenty others on board the vessel when the explosion occurred, and search was made in the vicinity of the steamer for them, but not a body was found, and it is believed that every one of these twenty men perished. Crews of other vessels that caught fire did their utmost to quench the flames, but their efforts were fruitless, and some of the creaft, mostly vessels engaged in the river and coasting trade, burned to the water's edge.

Terrible Wreck on the Knoxville, Cum berland Gap and Louisville Yesterday.

Knoxville, Tenn., June 14.—(Special.)—There was a bad wreck on the Knoxville, Cumberland Gap and Louisville railroad this morning about 8:30 o'clock. A freight train went down a trestie 135 feet high. The accident occurred a short distance north of Tazewell. A long train of coal cars was bound south. Owing to the heavy load, two engines were pulling the train. When the engines were pulling the train. When the engines were near the center of the trestie the brakeman on the rear saw the engines and cars near him drop into the awful depth below. He jumped and escaped, but all the cars went down. With them went the crew of each engine. J. T. Allison, engineer, and J. R. Shelton, fireman, were instantly killed. The injured are: Harvey Ogg, conductor; Alex Duckworth, conductor; Frank Sargent, engineer; Charles Fraley, fireman, and Claude Reed. M. T. Humphries, Henry Lucky and Will Feemster, the two latter colored. The two dead and all the injured were brought here tonight, except Sargent, who was taken to Middlesborough. It is feared that he will dle. Several others are seriously injured. It is not known what caused the wreck. On the one hand it is claimed that the "double-header" was running very rapidly, which broke the trestle. On the other it is claimed that the trestle was defective. It is the general statement that the road is in a good fix.

A Big Warehouse, With Five Thousand Bales of Cotton, Rurns—Vessels Damaged.
Baltimore, June 14.—The big warehouse of the bay line of steamers, at the foot of Union dock, took fire this afternoon from an unknown cause, and, within five minutes, was a roaring mass of flames. Stored inside the warehouse, which is several hundred feet long, were between five hundred and one thousand bales of cotton, several shiploads of rosin in barrels and a great number of hogsheads of molasses. The inflammable nature of the contents of the warehouse caused the blaze to spread with lightning-like rapidity. Fire plugs were scarce, and the engine had to hunt for openings in lumber piles in order to get water from the dock. The big fourmasted schooner Augustus Weil, the steamer Caroline and a number of other vessels lay at the pier when the fire broke out. The Caroline caught fire, but the tugs made a desperate effort to save her. The schooner Wirt was wrapped in flames in a few minutes. The heat from the burning warehouse, together with that of the weather, was terrible on the firemen, and several dropped at the hose pipes. The dock is one of the largest of its kind in the city, and is located at the foot of Concord street, and is one of the worst localities in the city for fire to break out. Around the dock are extensive lumber yards and dozens of coasting schooners. The dock is used largely by the Bay Line Company, who own the steamers Caroline, Virginia and Georgia and several freight steamers. The depth of water at the dock admits of landing of the largest vessels, and many were in it at the time the fire started.

A Million-Dollar Loss.

The loss will approximate $1,000,000. The Big Warehouse, With Five Thousa A Million-Dollar Loss.

A Million-Dollar Loss.

The loss will approximate $1,000,000. The fire is thought to have originated from spontaneous combustion among the cotton. None of the vessels lying at the docks were totally destroyed, because a tugboat drew them into the stream, where the fireboat, Cataract, and streams from the tugs saved them from total loss; but several fine vessels were badly damaged. Among these were the steamers Caroline and Gaston, schooners Wesley Oliver, Mamie Howard, William Wirt and Augustus Weil. The latter had just arrived with 1,200 tons of ice. All the top hamper of the schooners named was burned off and the hulls damaged. The Bay Line warehouse was totally destroyed with its contents, including 5,000 bales of cotton and over one thousand, two hundred barrels of whisky, intended for foreign shipment.

THE MISSISSIPPI WATERS Creating Havoc All Along the Line-Break In the Levee.

New Orleans, June 14.—Indications are that the break in the levee at Avondale plantation, twelve miles above this city, will be closed in a day or two. The water from this break has already interrupted business on both the Texas and the Southern Pacific railroads. All hope of closing the Belmont crevasse, which is forty miles above New Orleans, has been abandoned. This levee was twelve feet high and the break is now more than two hundred feet wide, and 100 feet deep, and cutting out rapidly. The crevasse at Sarapys, thirty miles above this city, is now 300 feet wide and 100 feet deep. Water from these two breaks has already inundated the Mississippi Valley railroad and will soon cover all the plantations along the river front. The Illinois Central railroad will lose heavily by the last mentioned crevasse. In Belmont the break force of the water was so great that it carried the Mississippi Valley track against the Postal telegraph and Southern Bell Telephone Company's poles, carrying them away for a distance of more than a mile.

Washington, June 14.—The weather reports today show that intense heat prevailed over about the same territory as yesterday. Chicago was an exceptionally cool place, 67 being the highest record. In New York, 96 was the sverage of private thermometers on the line of streets in the business sections. Many heat strokes were reported. In New England the heat was one or two degrees greater than yesterday. At Winsted, Conn., a Scotchman and three Italians were sunstruck this morning. One Italian will die. The thermometer was 95 in the shade. Richard Connors, aged thirty years, a trackman on the Central New England railroad, was sunstruck this afternoon, making five cases today. He will probably die.

St. Johns, Que., June 14.—St. Johns had a cyclone today with all the accompaniments of demolished buildings, lumber sailing through the air, trees uprooted, waterspouts sucked up from the river, terrifying noise and darkness made familiar in the news dispatches from Illinois and Iowa. Fortunately no lives were lost so far as known. Several large buildings were completely swept away.

GEORGIA'S CROPS.

The Regular Weekly Report on the Crop

BY THE AGRICULTURAL BUREAU. The Week Regarded as a Favorable One.

THE COTTON CONDITION IMPROVED.

Corn in Excellent Condition-The Har vest of Oats and Wheat Nearly Completed-The Reports in Detail.

Another favorable week has advanced the crops rapidly. On the whole the past week has probably been the most satis-factory of the present season. With a good degree of heat and plenty of sunshine there have been abundant showers in most districts, except in the southwest. In some few cases the rain has been too heavy, washing the ground; and some points, also, failed to receive any rainfall. A general and slow rain would probably be the most peneficial thing that could now occur. As it is, the crop outlook is reported as above the average in the northern portion of the state, and in all sections farmers are hope-

The condition of cotton has continued to improve, and the crop is now making rapid advancement. The plants are still small, and their growth is somewhat retarded by cool nights, especially in the southwest section. In the northern part of the state it seems fully up to the average for this date. With the deficient rainfall and the cool nights in the southwest lice have again appeared to some extent. Chopping is bout at an end, and no complaint is now made as to the stands obtained. At some points the buds have developed and a few blooms are out. -

Corn is everywhere in excellent condition, and growing rapidly. In general it is small, but of good color, and healthy. Early fields are in the tassel and silk. In the eastern and southern counties it is being generally "layed by." Except for slight damage by hail at scattered points, no com-plaint is made as to the condition of upland orn. On the bottoms there has been some washing, and consequent damage, from heavy showers.

The harvest of oats and wheat is pearly completed. In northern districts the oat crop turned out better than was anticipated. More than an average wheat crop is reported in the same section. The acreage of wheat is small, but the yield is excellent. Rust is reported in a few cases, but there s no general complaint.

Peaches are ripening, and the earliest are already coming to market. The crop will be an abundant one. Occasional com-plaints are made of their rotting and dropping on moist lands. The crop of early apples is not so abundant, but fall apples are plentiful. Pears will be short. Small fruits are abundant—blackberries unusually so. Melons stand in need of rain to giv them size. They are being shipped, but are small. With early and abundant rain in the melon districts, a fair crop would be marketed. Without rain, it will be somein most cases, but in some instances inland rice has been drowned out for want of proper drainage. Truck farms and gardens have greatly improved in condition since the recent rains.

Selected Reports from Correspondents. Chattooga-Wheat harvesting has begun: the acreage is small but the yield will be above the average. Early peaches are coming into market and are fine and well matured. Oats look promising. Farmers are well up with their work. Gwinnett—Farmers are busy, as several days of rain has set them back. Oats have come out wonderfully. Wheat harvesting, has commenced. All crops are growing fast. Cotton is a few days earlier than last year and farmers are nearly up with their work. Haralson—Wheat is being harvested and is reported very good. Corn is looking very well and cotton is growing nicely. Oats are better than for many years. Vegetables are in fine condition.

Campbell—Crops are doing well. Wheat has been cut and yields three-fourths of a full crop. Oats will yield from one-half to two-thirds of a crop. Corn is small but has a good color. Cotton is late but in good order, plants healthy and with good seasons crop will be fair.

White—The past week has been very rainy and farmers are a week behind. Oats and wheat look fairly well. Corn has a good stand and is in fine condition.

Hall—Crops in general are in excellent condition, though one week later than usual. Harvesting is in progress. Wheat is very good and oats promise a fair yield. The first crop is fair.

Elbert—The week has shown a marked improvement in all crops. Cotton and corn have taken on a rapid growth and are in excellent condition. Young grass is up very thick, but can be killed with the plow. Spring oats have improved wonderfully. Harvesting of wheat and fall oats is nearly completed; yield better than expected.

Walton—Crops are growing nicely since the rain. Corn is small but looks well; cotton is doing well. Crops are well worked. Spring oats are greatly improved. Peaches are plentiful but apples are scarce. Gardens are booming.

Troup—We have had good rains. Crops are now growing off finely. Stands of cotton are good; chopping completed. Corn looks well. Oats yield about half a crop; were badly injured by the drought.

The—Crops are looking well since the rain. Corn and cotton are rather small for this time of the year. Wheat is neveraging about twelve and a half bushels to the acre. Oats are yielding very well.

Talbot—The condition of crops is greatly improved. Corn is oats are not so good. Cotton is doing well. Corn is small.

Green—Crops were

Hancock—Have had nice rains during the week. All crops are doing finely; have been well worked and are clean. Farmers are "laying by" corn. There are good stands of peas. Crops are better than they were last year at this time.

Richmond—Weather has been splendid. Oats have been harvested and the separators are at work; yield good. Corn is growing finely, but cotton is backward. Melons give good promise. There is a large crop of peaches and berries, but the apple crop is a failure.

Bulloch—The frequent showers of the past week have been fine on all crops except where grass had taken hold. Crops of all kinds seem to be fully up to the average. More oats have been housed than usual owing to the increased acreage. Peaches are doing well.

Chatham—Crops are growing finely. Some inland rice has been drowned out by not having proper drainage. Tidewater rice is doing well.

Clay—The condition of crops has greatly improved during the week, especially corn. Farmers complain of grass in cotton. Oats have been harvested and yielded about half a full crop. Early peaches are being brought into market.

Lee—Parts of the county are needing rain badly. Melons need it worse now than at any previous time. Corn also is suffering for rain. Most crops are looking tolerably well.

Mitchell—It has rained in some places, but others are suffering from drought. The growth of all crops is retarded and the first crop of melons is slightly injured. The potato crop is cut off some.

Worth—This section is slightly in need of rain, though all crops are looking well, except early corn and melons, which are suffering slightly. Cotton is clean and in fine condition. Melons are being shipped this week.

Appling—We have had fine weather which has wonderfully improved the outlook for all growing crops. The latter are well worked and in fine condition to receive the rain. Melons are getting ripe. Liberty—Copions showers on the 9th put crops ahead better than could be expected. Corn is looking fine. Rice is coming up which had been planted six weeks. Cotton is doing fairly well.

Pierce—The recent rains have brightened up all crops. Farm work is well up. The prospect promises fair for a heavy crop of corn. Cotton looks well, but is a little late.

FIRE IN MARIETTA,

A Family Makes a Narrow Escape from

Marietta, Ga., June 14.—(Special.)—Shortly after 12 o'clock tonight Mrs. S. C. Mullins's residence on Cherokee street was found to be on fire and under good headway. The family was asleep and barely escaped alive. Some of the children had to be rescued by the firemen and citizens. The house was owned by A. R. Winters and was insured for $1.000. The fire was the work of an incendiary. Last night when the family came home from the commencement exercises all the doors were locked and the keys left inside the locks. When the alarm was given the keys were all gone and the family had to escape through a window.

The Chains Taken Off.

Charleston, S. C., June 14.—(Special.)—The city council today, under pressure of public opinion, adopted a resolution authorizing the mayor to relax the stringent "blue Sunday" law recently enacted. Under the recent law, as adopted by the present administration, the only article purchasable in this city on Sunday was Sunday cocktall, which was, of course, obtained through side doors. The soda water, ice cream and fruit stands were hermetically sealed, and even the drug stores were prevented from selling sweet soap. The public became restive, especially as murder and crime seemed to be on the increase. Hence the resolution adopted by the board of aldermen today.

MADE BY A NEW YORK PUBLICATION.

to It Indirectly—The Chief of the Department Talks.

Savannah, Ga., June 14,-(Special.)-The nt direct attack made upon the Savan-fire department in The New York mercial Bulletin is still the sensation The insurance agents are parties the insurance agents are parties to the indirectly. The fire department is con-cerned more directly. The property owners of Savannah are those who will watch de-velopments in it most closely. It is nothnah fire department and its chief and its personnel by a southern special assurance agent, and an appeal to the tariff ciation to rigidly apply the tariff, and ecially the deficiency charges for fire This latter practically means raising of insurance rates in Savannah, this is where the property owners come in as interested parties. The charges and appeal alluded to are printed in The New York Commercial Bulletin of June 9th. They are by a "southern special," and They are by a southern special, and thous the writer is up on Savannah fire department affairs. The total real estate of Savannah is nearly twenty-two million dollars. One-half of this, it is computed, is insured. If, because of "deficiency collars. One-half of this, it is computed, is insured. If, because of "deficiency harges for fire department," the insurance ates were increased one-eighth of 1 per ent, or one-sixteenth of 1 per cent, it will endily be seen that a very large sum of noney is concerned. It must be remember-money is concerned. It must be remembered, too, the stocks of goods in trade are not included in these figures. With these figures included the amount will be increased many millions of dollars.

Of course it is not settled that such increase is to be made. But the recommendation is proffered by a special agent that it be made. Several insurance men were seen about the facts set out in the publication. It was a bit surprising to ascertain that they endorsed the article in general terms, though not vouching for the specific statements set out therein. Their endorsement was of the general idea that the fire department of Savannah, as at present equipped and conducted, is not adequate to the needs of a city the size of Savannah.

Savannah.

Referring to the fire on Huntington street during Muy week The Commercial Bulletin's correspondent says: "Two engines became disabled after the starting of the fire, during May week The Commercial Bulletin's correspondent says: "Two engines became disabled after the starting of the fire, and there being no reserve engines and no direct pressure they had to rely on two engines with a total of four streams, resulting in a loss, which could have been obviated with sufficient water and force, greater than would purchase and maintain three engines for five or more years." No5ody could take exceptions if the insurance writer had kept within the lines of truth. Only one engine broke down during the Huntington street fire, and eight streams were kept steadily going. There was a defect in pressure from the water mains for a short while, but no department could have handled the fire better than Savannah's department did under the circumstances. It began in an untenanted and unfurnished frame building where the lumber was fresh and of the most inflammable character, and had quite a start before it was discovered. The adjoining houses were all large frame buildings, comparatively new, and a drought of several weeks had taken every particle of moisture out of them, and a high wind prevailed at the time.

Here is what is said of Chief Puder: "The chief of the department was formerly a fireman under the volunteer system, and as a hard-working fireman he was a success, but as a chief he seems to lack that ability to direct a force, and does not seem competent to handle a fire of any consequence." This statement is untrue. Chief Puder was never a fire foreman in his life. For ten years he worked in the volunteer years he was engineer of No. 2 company. His success in handling and controlling fires which threatened to be conflagrations during the past four years is sufficient answer to the charge against his ability. He comes from family of fire fighters, and has brought the Savannah department up to a state of efficiency, where it stands today. Chief Puder was seen about the publication by a Press reporter.

Chief Puder was seen about the publication by a Press reporter.

"So far as the references to myself are concerned," he said, "I shall have nothing to say. My record is public property. The department is as successfully conducted as that of any department in the country. It does as good work at fires as any set of men in the world could do. The men are fearless fire fighters, and are selected with care. There have been, I confess, many destructive fires of late, but no department in the world the same size of mine could more successfully cope with them. These attacks on the Savannah department are periodical affairs. All departments are attacked in like manner in turn. These special agents find it necessary from time to time to make reports like this in order to endeavor to convince their companies that they are doing something. The Augusta, Atlanta and Macon departments may expect in their turn to be attacked in like manner. However much truth there may be in the statement that the department is not large enough, the attack made upon me is not only unkind, but unjust and uncalled for. I must refer you to Alderman Bailey, chairman of the fire committee of the council, for any further information you may desire in regard to the matter."

Alderman Bailey was then looked up and his attention called to the publication "This is outrageous," he commented, after having read the article. "This attack upon Chief Puder is entirely unmerited. There sin't a better fireman in the country. There are few superior commanding officers at a fire than he. The attack upon him personally is entirely uncerted. The son't a setter fireman in the country. There are few superior commanding officers at a fire than he. The attack upon him personally is entirely uncerted. The son't appear has been an an average of seven men to each company is employed. It is untrue that less than an average of seven men to each company is employed. It is untrue that the firemen of Bavannah are boys, as stated in the clipping. They are young, vigorous men, ines, etc.—correctly, but his attacks upon the efficiency of the department are flagrantly unjust. As things now stand, the department does need further apparatus. I so recommended to the council when the last budget was being made up."

Mayor McDonough got down to some very plain talk when he was shown the article. "This statement about the inefficiency of the fire chief or of the fire department is untrue—absolutely so. That is all ment is untrue—absolutely so. That is all cy of the fire chief or of the fire department is untrue—absolutely so. That is all there is about it. I honestly and candidly believe that Savannah has as excellent fire-fighting facilities as any city any where. I took occasion to compliment the department on the occasion of the recent big fire. The whole fire department of Georgia could not have checked it sooner than the Savannah department did. It was under headway in an untenanted frame house when the alarm was given and there were frame houses all around. Could we have turned the Savannah river on it the fire could not have been immediately extinguished after it had the start that it did. I notice in this publication that the writer attacks the Savannah waterworks. There is some justice in that attack, I must admit. If there be fault with Savannah on the point of its fire-fighting facilities the fault lies with the waterworks, and there alone. But we are doing everything possible that can be done to remedy this. The new waterworks are nearing completion as rapidly as nossible, and will be in full alone. But we are doing everything possible that can be done to remedy this. The new waterworks are nearing completion as rapidly as possible, and will be in full operation by the first of the year. It was recommended to the council that more fire engines, at least another fire engine, be purchased by the city. We decided not to do this in view of the fact that the waterworks will soon be in operation. When they are the domestic pressure of forty to fifty can in a moment be increased to 150, and there will be streams strong enough to go over the largest building in the city. We will need no fire engines at all then, and it would be folly to purchase more now. I want you to say for me that the publication in The Commercial Bulletin, so far as its allusions to Mr. Puder and his force are concerned, is without basis, is apparently malicious and is untrue."

It is learned from the insurance agents that the "rigid application of the tariff" has already been begun in Savannah. "Heretofore," the reporter was told, "the risks were written in a haphazard-use-yourown-judgment sort of a way." Now, however, the companies have gotten to be more particular.

THEY WERE BROTHER MASONS,

But That Did Not Prevent Them from

Augusta, Ga., June 14.—(Special.)—News reached Augusta this afternoon of a horse whipping case in Graniteville, S. C., last evening, in which two prominent citizens were concerned. Mr. C. F. Baker, boss machinist of Graniteville factory, it is re-ported, was cowhided by Dr. B. W. Huner. It is said that Dr. Hunter met Mr. Baker while out walking, and went up to him (Hunter) and asked him if he had made certain remarks about him. Baker told the doctor he had made the remarks referred to. Dr. Hunter then informed Baker that he was armed, and that he intended to punish him with a whipping and at the same time commenced striking Baker with a whip. Baker resisted and tried to wrench Hunter's pistol from out his hand, but was prevented by friends who arrived on the scene about this time, who interfered and stopped the disturbance. The remarks made that offended Dr. Hunter are not known. It is not thought the ter are not known. It is not thought the trouble is yet ended. Both principals are said to be brother Masons.

At least, it would so appear from the fact that a meeting was called and duly advertised to be held this morning at 11 o'clock, but, at the appointed time, only Secretary Ben L. Secretary Jones will make another effort to get the members of the committee together, and has called a meeting for next Friday morning, at 11 o'clock, at the courthouse.

The officers of the Second regiment are delighted with the results of the last week's encampment at Griffin. There was only one great drawback to the encampment, it seems, and that was the absence of any good place for target practice. This training in the use of the rifle is very useful to the young soldier, and will be found invaluable in case the troops should be needed in active service. It is, therefore, to be deplored that the soldiers should be deprived of this branch of the training of the annual encampment.

Bibb county's board of education met last night and took some important steps affecting the future of schools and scholars in the county, but especially in Macon.

A new school building is being erected on Spring street, opposite Hill park, and when finished will take the place of the old Whittle school building on Mulberry street, which has so often been disapproved. The erection of this new building necessitates the redistricting of lines, and under the recommendation of Superintendent Zettler, approved by the board, this work will commence at once.

The county schools will all be closed on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

The Public Library.

The Public Library.

The directors of the public library have determined to hold a glorious Fourth of July celebration at Central City park this year. Up to last year this was the regular custom, but it was dropped. This year, however, the urgent needs of the library call for some quick and energetic move looking to financial relief. The Fourth of July celebration is apparently the most feasible move and no doubt a great day can be planned and an attractive programme carried out, if the committee which has the matter in charge will go to work at once and work continuously and persistently up to the time when the gates open. Without this persistent effort carried on for the next twenty days failure must be the result. The railroads will be asked to give special rates and the residents of all middle and south Georgia will be afforded an opportunity to take at least one day of solid enjoyment in Macon.

Under the tree from which the unfortunate boy fell had been placed a pigpen with some stobs driven in the center, and as he fell he struck the pen, throwing him on the stobs. the two went at once to Dougherty county jail, where the negro was placed in a cell. His name is Abe Brown and he is under arrest charged with a most horrible crime. Yesterday afternoon as a little fourteen-year-old girl was passing through of woods near Blakely, she was stopped by Brown, who sprang from where he was concealed and started to take hold of her.

The child screamed and ran off at the top of her speed, followed by the negro for quite a distance. Some citizens of the town were attracted by the cries and came to the rescue in time to save the child and arrest the scoundrel.

As soon as the news became known, public indignation rose fever high, and threats of lynching were freely indulged in. It is reported that an unsuccessful effort was made to get at Brown by a crowd, but Sheriff Black had taken the precaution to have the prisoner removed from the jail to some point where he remained all night. The law will now be allowed to take its own course and it goes without saying that the scoundrel will get his deserts.

AMMONIA OR ALUM.

Ammonia and alum are the most common idulterants used in the manufacture of baking powders. The government report shows that a large percentage of the bak-ing powders on the market contain either one or the other, or both these perniciou drugs. Ammonia particularly is in very general use.

This wholesale use in an article of daily food, of one of the most injurious poisons is simply criminal. Slow ammonia poisoning produces disease of the stomach and is particularly injurious to the complexion The presence of ammonia or alum in a baking powder, however, can easily be de-

Alum powder can be tested by putting couple of teaspoonfuls of the powder in glass of cold water. If no effervescence (that is bubbling or simmering) takes place, condemn the powder and return it at once.

Take one-half teaspoonful of baking powder in lid of say half pound can; char thoroughly over a strong alcohol flame, a good gas jet, or red hot coals. After charng (that is, burning until the whole mass is black) pour a little vinegar into the lid and smell the fumes. Alum powders give off sulphuretted hydrogen, which may be

This time she took the precaution not to carry any of her children with her, but sent them on last Sunday morning to a neighbor's house, telling them she would follow them in a short while. Her non-appearance caused some uneasiness and the neighbors began a search for her fearing she was drowned, but all fears were soon removed as they found where she had met some one in a wagon and left with them.

The Snake and the Guinea.

Americus, Ga., June 14.—(Special.)—There are snake stories and snake stories.

And usually at this time of the year snake and fish stories are ruled out. But here's one that is known to be true for first, Mr. Will Nelms said it was—and he's a member of the church—and then Mr. Merrel Callaway told it and said he knew it was so, because Mr. Nelms vouched for it. A few days ago, out by Mr. Nelms's place near Americus, a good lady who deesn't like notoriety heard a guinea making a terrible fuss and she proceeded to investigate. She found a big rattlesnake coiled up near the fowl. Eve herself could not kill a snake and the good woman called for help. Help came and the snake was killed. The moment this was done the guinea dropped dead. It certainly was not struck by the snake. It didn't get sick and it didn't swell up. The explanation is that the fowl was charmed. Anyhow, it died as soon as the snake was killed and it certainly wasn't poisoned by the snake.

Saw the Willipus-Wallapus.

Turin, Ga., June 14.—(Special.)—A couple of darkies raised considerable excitement Saturday night by declaring that they had seen the gyascutus, wilipus-wallapus, or whatever it is, that has been prowling around here for two or three weeks past. A big crowd turned out, armed with guns, sticks, axes, etc., but after a thorough search failed to locate the varmint. It is believed to be a dog, but the negroes have succeeded in magnifying it into a good-sized booger, and as a consequence there is less night prowling than usual. It is to be hoped that it will take up its quarters here permanently, if it will have the effect of keeping the negroes indoors at night. A Woman in the Case.

Albany, Ga., June 14.—(Special.)—Bill Williams, a negro who lives out on Mrs. V. I. Bennett's Byron place in the oaky woods, had a close call last night. He came to town this morning for repairs and was suffering from the effects of two pistol shots. Dr. W. A. Strother extracted one bull from the negro's arm and found the other in the pocket of his shirt, where it had lodged after passing through his breast. It entered the breast, struck the breastbone and glanced, passing out at the left side and lodging in the pocket of his shirt, where the doctor found it. Williams says that he was in his bed asleep when he was shot, and that the would-be assassin fired on him through a crack near the bed. He pretends not to know who shot him and there is supposed to be a woman in the case. posed to be a woman in the case.

Albany, Ga., June 14.—(Special.)—Albany experienced an eight-thousand-dollar fire this morning. The fire was discovered about 1 o'clock in Mrs. M. Y. Atkinson's boarding house, which, with the residence of Rev. J. A. Rumney adjoining, was plickly consumed. At one time the Hotel Mauo and Goodwin & Son's large livery stable seemed destined to be consumed also, but a providential change of breeze swept the shower of sparks in another direction, and saved these buildings. The buildings burned were somewhat isolated and it being very calm the flames were stayed with the loss of the Atkinson and Rumney buildings. Mrs. Atkinson was partly insured but Mr. Rumney's loss was complete.

A STEAM WAGON-

A STEAM WAGON.

An Inventor Devises a Scheme to Do Away with Horses.

Baltimore, June 14.—A remakable specimen of mechanical ingenuity has recently been shown by Mr. W. T. Harris, a machinist of this city, who formerly resided in Louisville. It is in the form of a unique wagon, which is propelled by means of a Vandusen ter-horse power gasoline engine. The proposed wagon, which is completed and has had one trial trip, and is now undergoing some alterations in the axle-bearings, is about sixteen feet in length, weighs about six thousand pounds, and is quite long enough to seat twenty persons comfortably. The engine, as designed and applied, is small and compact, resting beneath the floor and between the axles, and concealed by steps mounting to the body of the vehicle. One side of the engine is furnished with a metallic fly-wheel of forty-eight inches diameter, at right angles to which revolves a friction wheel, the circumference of which is leather. This smaller wheel is turned by the revolution of the fly-wheel. Upon the same axle is another small wheel, which causes to revolve a metal disk and to the latter is attached a linked chain, which likewise surrounds the rear hub. The power is thus transmitted from the fly-wheel to the friction wheel and thence to the hub. The speed can be increased or diminished by widening or lessening the distance of the friction wheel from three to twenty miles is guaranteed at a cost of 1 cent per hour for the engine power and 10 cents per gallon capacity will be placed in the wagon, but ten gallons per day will probably be an ample allowance. The levers necessary for the propagating, lessening and increasing the motion will be a brake, a speed lever and a steering apparatus, and the driver or steerer will be placed in the front part of the wagon, conveniently near all these. Should the wagon fulfill the predictions of the inventor, horse-power as a means of street locomotion may be in a great measure done away with.

NOW FOR NANTAHALA.

Special Excursion to Be Run to Nantahala on the 21st of June.

On the 21st instant a party will leave tlanta at 8 o'clock a. m. on the Western and Atlantic railroad for a three-days' out-ing in the Alleghany mountains, and a royal good time is in store for all who are lecturate enough to be one of the party.

The object of this trip is a visit to the roperty of the Nantahala Marble and Talcompany (Phina) coperty of the Nantahala Marble and Talc Company. This company owns a large fact of very rich marble, talc and timber ands in Swain county, North Carolina, thry miles from Murphy, and in the heart of the Alleghany mountains. This property has been known for years as the richest marble and talc land in this country, but has been absolutely inaccessible until the completion last year of the Western borth Carolina railroad, which now runs brough the property for a distance of six lies.

It may be interesting to the stockholders of the Nantahala company to know that the original survey of this road was changed to run through the Nantahala property, the railroad people realizing the immense lenefit its development would be to them. Now, with all the transportation facilities necessary, the Nantahala company probase to give the world the advantage of their immense mineral and timber wealth, and will, in a short time, begin the erection of marble, talc and lumber mills, and ther manufactories. The company also proposes to build a city at Nantahala. Such extensive development as the company will make of marketable commodities that are increasing in demand every day will of itself be a large factor in the building of a city at Nantahala. In order that the present stockholders and those otherwise interested may have an opportunity of seeing what is at Nantahala the company has arranged for the excursion of the 21st. The cost of the trip will be $15, which will include all expenses of the trip, and a game and fish dinner that will be served by the Nantahala company on the banks of the Nantahala river Wednesday, the 22d. Such a feast spread under giant trees of the primeval forest at an altitude of 3,000 feet, surrounded by such wealth of magnificent mountain scenery as exists at Nantahala, and the like of which is not to be found east of the Rocky mountains, is enough to tempt the busiest men to make this trip to the eastern mountains. GAINESVILLE'S GUESTS. This Season Promises to Be the Gayest for Many Years.

Gainesville, Ga., June 14.—(Special.)—The last few days of hot weather is proving of advantage to our city, in that people from many points south are coming here for the summer. Many years prior to the war Gainesville and New Holland Springs were regarded the Mecca for health and pleasure, and there is not a city, town or village in the south Atlantic states but has been represented here. This season promises to be one of the gayest ever known. Already the place is filling up, several parties bringing their carriages and horses. The Arlington, the most popular summer resort hotel here, has engaged the Bearlen band, and will give its formal opening ball in about two weeks. The first ball of the season at New Holland will take place about the 30th instant. Everything is now in readiness, and the many visitors who are already there are delighted with their accommodations. Indeed, Gainesville and New Holland will be crowded this summer.

ON TO CHICAGO. sed Facilities in Favor of Thos Who Are Going to the Chicago Convention. Mr. Kight was called on yesterday evening

Who Are Going to the Chicago Convention.

Mr. Kight was called on yesterday evening and was found surrounded by a mass of letters and telegrams from all parts of the state relative to the trip to Chicago on account of the democratic convention. He has secured the assistance of additional stenographers in order to aid him in answering promptly and fully the many inquiries referred to.

He says his surprise is genuine on account of the objections made by the majority of his correspondents to going on the much-advertised special trains on the 17th instant, claiming that they do not desire to be identified with a "hurrah crowd," but prefer quiet and comfort. His invariable reply to this class of correspondents embraces the following facts: Special sleepers will be attached to the East Tennessee trains leaving Atlanta at 1 p. m. on the 16th, 17th, 18th, 19th and 20th, inclusive, using a schedule to Chicago four hours and thirty-three minutes quicker than the schedule that has been officially decided upon by the committee. These sleepers can be used instead of the special sleepers on the much-advertised train leaving the 17th instant, thereby escaping the "hurrah crowd" objected to.

Mr. Kight states, however, that he does not intend to impose any restrictions on those using the special train leaving on the 17th instant, realizing that nothing less than a "hurrah crowd" can be expected on this train, from the fact that each one of them is fully impressed with the opinion that they will assist in nominating the next president of the United States, and consequently must be fully elated over the prospects. The fact that the fare is only $17.60 from Atlanta to Chicago and return, when the one-way fare is $20.10, will attract fully as many people who desire to visit Chicago and other points in that territory as will be attracted by the democratic convention. It is safe to assume that it will be along time before rates as low will be named again.

Miss Nina Hornady and Mrs. Scrutchin will cpen a private school on the 20th instant. Especial attention will be given to preparing young ladies for the Girls' High school, a work for which both are well adapted, as they are teachers in that institution. No other Sarsaparilla possesses the com-bination, proportion and process which make Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiar to itself.

The W. T. Archer Incident. The W. T. Archer Incident.

The story of Mr. James F. O'Neill having paid part of the fine imposed on W. T. Archer, who had disputed his statement in court, was widely read yesterday. Some one having asked why Mr. O'Neill did not resent the insult physically, Mr. O'Neill did not resent the insult physically, Mr. O'Neill said:

"I paid the old man's fine because I pitied his decrepitude and age. I cannot afford to fight a man forty years older than myself, and who is ready to drop into the grave from the senility of old age. That fully explains why I dil not take vigorous steps with him."

A Legacy of Anguish. The rheumatic taint transmitted from parent to child is indeed a legacy of anguish. Moreover, trifling causes, such as setting in a draught, the neglect to specifiy change damp clothing; readily develop it., Whether rheumaticm he hereditary or contracted by exposure, Hostetter's Stomach Bittes is the surest depurent for expelling the virus from the blood and for preventing the later encroachments of the disease. Sullivan told him to go away and the late alderman being a peaceable man furned to walk away. Sullivan followed him and as he was about to step in his buggy, shot him in the back and fired again before Gilreath could reach the ground. Both balls took effect; the last one in the head and the first in the body.

Gilreath never spoke again. He was carried into the store of Finley Bros. and a number of physicians summoned.

The family of the dead man were imme diately notified and are prostrated. He leaves a wife who was a Miss Mattie Cauble and one daughter. He was a half brother of Major W. W. Gilreath and a

AN OLD BOTTLE

Is the Cause of a Bloody Tragedy in Greenville, S. C.

The killing occurred on the southwest corner of Main and Coffee streets and was witnessed by a large number of people. No provocation for the murder can be discovered, the causes which lead up to it being of the most trivial character.

Methodist church and yesterday afternoon was in the garden of the parsonage with the pastor, the Rev. J. Thomas Pate. Mr. Gilreath's coachman was doing some plowing for the minister and the gentlemen were engaged in conversation. While walking around on the freshly plowed ground Mr. Gilreath kicked up an old bottle and carelessly tossed it into the next yard which is owned by Mr. Sullivan's motherin-law and where he resides with his wife and three children, he having come from Birmingham, Ala., some six months ago, where he had been engaged in business for

The act of Mr. Gilreath in throwing the old bottle in the yard caused the killing. The men met yesterday and Mr. Sullivan became abusive and it is said told Gilreath to "fix himself;" that "the gap is down and will stay down between us.

A long record of perfect and permanent cures of the worst cases —or they couldn't have faith in it. It means no more caterrh—or $500. If you fail to be cured, you won't fail to be paid.

But perhaps you won't believe it. Then there's another reason for trying it. Show that you can't be cured, and you'll get $500. It's a plain business offer. The makers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy will pay you that amount if they can't cure you. They know that they can—you think that they can't. If they're wrong, you get the cash. How the Democracy Can Win.

It is of paramount importance that every democrat who wishes success to the democratic party lay aside all personal preferences in the choice of the nominees to be selected by the national convention of the party to be held in Chicago next week.

As a condition precedent to the selection of a candidate at that time it must be understood that the nominee for president, whoever he may be, will receive the earnest and enthusiastic support of the rank and file of the party. If Mr. Cleveland is nominated, he is entitled to the hearty support of every democrat in the United States, and The Constitution, laying aside whatever personal preference it may have, will support him as zealously as any democratic newspaper in the country. On the other nand it may appear to the democrats, in convention nhled that it is the nart of wisdom to make some other selection for president. Should this be the result of the national conference at Chicago, the selection of the convention is entitled to just as warm and enthusiastic support as though Mr. Cleveland had been named as the standard bearer of the party.

The republicans have renominated the presidential candidate who carried the election in 1888, and they evidently expect to re-elect him in 1892. In the approaching election six new states will vote, for the first time, in a presidential election, to wit: Idaho, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Washington and Wyoming. These are counted as republican states having twenty electoral votes. There has been a gain in population in the old states sufficient to give twenty-three electoral votes more than there were in 1888. There will be, therefore, forty-three more electoral votes in 1892 than there were in 1888. Of this gain seven are from democratic states. and sixteen from republican states. Only four of this gain comes from the east, and nineteen from the west. This, added to the twenty votes of the new states, makes a gain of thirty-nine votes for the west, not excepting the two from Georgia and Alabama gained in the south.

The electoral vote in 1888 between Cleveland and Harrison was-Cleveland, 168; Harrison, 233. Add thirty-six repubmake 269. Add seven democratic gain to Cleveland's vote and it will make 175. This gives ninety-four more votes for Harrison than for Cleveland, and will therefore make it necessary for Cleveland to carry Indiana and New York both to be elected this year, not counting the close vote in Virginia and West Virginia, which are certainly to be counted as doubtful states as between Cleveland and

Harrison as shown by the vote of 1888. We present below a table of the electoral votes cast for president in 1888, with the increase in the vote of the same

Mr. Albert A. Pope, of, Boston, is actively exerting himself to arouse public interest in the matter and to secure the construction of a building for a special road exhibit. The work is one which should command the aid of potriotic men everywhere. Its importance can hardly be overestimated. It would hasten the progress of rural free delivery of mail, and would greatly reduce the expense. The star route service, which is a matter of great importance in the country, would be another affair. The improvement of roads would also have a direct and important effect upon the country schools. The attendance upon country schools. The attendance upon country schools is largely dependent upon the condition of the roads, and with firm pikes, the children would gather from a distance of four or five miles, giving a patronage which would support, in every such place, an academy worthy of the name. Around these academies grow up charming little communities, and there the farmers gather for the mutual advantage and pleasure of social intercourse. The three factors of greatest importance in country life are good mads, good schools and free |

Not only this, but parties seem to concede the fact this territory is to be imporant battle ground approaching presidential on. With this in view, if we select date for the presidency from the great northwest with a strong from New York his vice president, why can we not win in the approaching presidential contest?

Is Senator Palmer not the available man? He hails from Illinoi and his nomination will make that a democratic state. The quadro-cen tennial celebration of America's discovery is to be held Chicago in 1893 and that state aspires to ead all other states in the next census. Local state pride will be stronger than it has been since Lincoln was numinated, and Illinois has always been famous for standing by her sons. Palmer's views on the tariff are as much in harmony with the people of the northwest as are those of any democrat who has been mentioned. As to the silver question he has openly announced that he would yield his views, whatever they, may be, to the voice of the representatives of the people in congress assembled and the threat of a veto is not flaunted in their face.

Now, if it is the desire of the party t win, and to make democratic principles certain, let it look to the new and growing country contiguous to the Mississippi river, and let it show a disposition to consult the wishes of the great west.

Study the statistics given above, and the remarkable condition of the situation will at once confront every conservative democrat. Republican gains outside of of the new states mentioned come from California, Colorado, Illinois, Kansas Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Oregon, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin. The democratic gain of seven comes from Alabama, Arkansas, Missouri, Georgia, New Jersey and Texas. Let the convention bear this in mind, and let it take into consideration the fact that the vote of New York is absolutely essential to democratic success Let it keep in mind the true interest of the party, and lay aside the interest of any one man. Such being the case the convention can nominate a licket the will win.

Will it be equal to the emergency? We desire that there should be no ground for doubt as to our position. If the democratic party in its wisdom, in convention assembled, expresses the belief that Mr. Cleveland is the man, then The Constitution will be found battling as earnestly in his behalf as though its first choice had been named by the convention. In a great fight like this we believe that no man should be considered from the standpoint of personal preferment. The party's interests, the party's welfare, even the party's existence, are all at stake, and to these great questions should the democracy turn, in looking to a solution of the perplexing situation which will confront it at the Chicago convention. When the convention speaks the democracy has expressed itself, and there should be no further ground for question or for cavil. Whoever the lemocracy nominates, the democracy must elect, and the choice of the Chicago convention must be the next president of the United States of

The popular interest in these subjects is already great. In many country comnunities the people have gone systems. ically to work to create a public sentiment that will move things. An interesting instance of this occurred recently. Mr. Joel Chandler Harris received a letter from a little boy in Alabama who enclosed a composition on road reform. He said that he was contending for a prize and in order to get his paper in he was required to have it printed in some newspaper. Accordingly, Mr. Harris had the composition inserted in a Sunday issue of The Constitution and forwarded the little fellow a copy. Not long ago a Joyous cpis was received from the boy, ann ing that he had won the prize, which was a fine bicycle. It was a long-headed man who got up this contest. No doubt it caused a hundred articles to be printed in the newspapers, and set thousan people to talking and thinking on the subject. This may prove a valuable stggestion to Mr. Pope

The White Slaves of New York. Colonel Cockerill's paper, 'The New York Morning Advertiser, unfolds a tale f horror concerning the white slaves at work on the railroad which the Vanderbilts are constructing through the Adirondacks.

As the story goes, Dr. Seward H. Webb, member of the Vanderbilt family, is president of this slave colony, and the genial Chauncey Depew is one of its owners. The new railroad is constructed at the cost of human life and liberty, and the wretched toilers are driven to their work half-starved at the muzzles of rifles, shotguns and revolvers. Many perish under their cruel treatment, and the line of the railway is dotted with name less graves. Some of the slaves in a vam effort to regain their liberty fled to the woods and died of starvation, or were shot down like doca

It may be said that this heartless oppression is carried on by the sub-con ractors and their foremen, but they must get their authority from some source. Unemployed men in the cities are induced by fair promises to go into the mountains. and when they reach their destination they are placed under guard. During the winter many of them slept in the open air on the snow, and if they had blankets they bought them at fabulous prices from the company's store. When men goaded to desperation by their sufferings try to escape they are shot down by the guards. If they lag at their work they are flogged.

Of course it will be claimed that the Vanderbilts know nothing of these bar barities, but The Advertiser presses the point that these millionaires are never less responsible because their agents and sub-agents are actively engaged in this inhuman business.

It is a blot upon American civilization that such conditions are permitted to exist within a few hours' ride of New York city. This shameful white slavery is the outgrowth of plutocracy. When millionaires are allowed to be a law unto themselves-when they dominate the government-when they organize their little armies of Pinkerton hirelings and sweep away every barrier between their gree and the rights of the people, we may expect the Adirondack horror to be repeated whenever these money-kings find it profit able Personally our plutocrats may be clever men. The czar of Russia is kind-hearted, and so were the French and English kings who lost their heads. Personal virtues count for little when their possessors are a part of an oppressive system. If the Vanderbilts are men of common prudence they will act promptly in outting an end to the atrocities carried on under the shield of their name.

Mr. Depew's pet name when he was child was "Chinch." It is said he was a lovely boy, with long golden curls and blue those days no one suspected tha he would ever go wrong. It is thought that mental troubles drove him into the republican party.

ETCHED AND SKETCHED.

"Imperial Caesar, dead and turned That was my first thought, yesterday, as I stood in the managing editor's room in The Constitution building, and looked down upon the majestic face of the world's mightiest conqueror.

It was the death mask of the first Na poleon—a duplicate of the one taken at St. Helena, made for Alexander Doyle, the famous sculptor of the Grady monument, while he was in Paris years ago, and pre-sented by him to Mr. Clark Howell. The original is now in the Louvre in Paris.

Gazing downward upon that face, it was difficult to get rid of the idea that the dead the aguiline nose, the perfect mouth and chin, all these features are admirably reproduced in the mask, and the emaciation of a long and painful illness only heightens

Yesterday, when I saw that calm face. worn by suffering, but full of patient endurance, dauntless courage, and with genius stamped upon its every line, my mind ran rapidly over his splendid career. What a man, and what a history! The son of a poor Corsican lawyer, beginning life friendless and penniless, driven to the verge of suicide by his poverty, he mastered every obstacle in his way and rose to the most dazzling heights of power. The general and armies of Europe were all vanquished by him. He snatched the crown of France from a river of blood and placed it upon his head. He revolutionized the map of the world, smashed thrones and dynasties, shattered political systems, brought orde out of chaos, made kings his lackeys, aroused Europe from the long sleep of feudalism, and so identified himself with the common people that every French sol-dier marched into battle feeling that he carried a marshal's baton in his knapsack.

What a myriad-minded man! the imagination all compact of a poet and the wisdom of a philosopher. He was great at Lodi, Marengo and Austerlitz, but his Code Napoleon will live as long as his victories. He loved literature, science and art, and he loved France.

The processes of his mind were lightning-like, and a meteoric splendor illumi-nated his career. If he was feared he was also loved, and men were proud and happy to die for him. His equal never rose or reigned or fell. He was "a model without shadow.

The comp troller general's report shows about ter thousand there, and about three-fourths of them are in the city of Augusta. If Ma-jor Black don't carry Richmond by 3,000 majority his friends will be awfully disap-pointed, and they think he is pretty sure of Hancock and Wilkinson, with an ever chance for Warren and Taliaferro. Burke one of the largest counties carried by Mr. Watson two years ago, is now out of the district. Giving Watson Columbia, Glas-cock, Jefferson, Lincoln and McDuffie, and giving Black Richmond, Hancock and Wil kinson, with Warren and Taliaferro as standoff, the democratic nominee will be about two thousand five hundred votes ahead; and even doubling the liberal estimate of Watson's majorities and giving him Warren and Taliaferro, he will still be a housand votes behind.

The encouraging fact for the democrats is that while the big county of Richmond could only cast six votes in a congressional convention two years ago, when little counties like McDuffie, Glascock and Lincoln with a tenth of its population cast two votes each, now every vote counts one. When Tom Watson went out of the democratic party he dropped his candy. has lost the advantage that the little coun ties have in a democratic convention, where their representation is much larger in pro-portion to population than that of big counties like Richmond. Colonel Darnell's policy may have some effect upon the congressional race in the tenth district as between Black and Watson, but there is no danger of the election of a republican congressman in Georgia.

From The Columbus, O., Sun.
Gustavus Steinberg, a Swedish coin dealer, recently received through the custom house a collection of exceedingly unique coins, which is proposed to exhibit at the coins, which is proposed to exhibit at the world's fair. The coins came from Sweden, where they circulated in the sixteenth century. They bear more resemblance to pieces of boiler iron after an explosion than money. The coins are great flat pieces of copper cut into very poor squares. The smallest coin is four inches square and worth 30 cents, and the largest over a foot square and with a face value of $4.

Each slab of copper is stamped in several places with an inscription giving its date of issue and its denomination. The largest weighed over four pounds.

These enormous and cumbersome coins were the result of an absurd craze which prevailed several hundred years ago regarding the exclusive use of copper for money. It carried the coinage of copper to absurd lengths and the people discarded its use.

In those days of copper coinage, wealthy ladies were compelled to hire an attendant to accompany them to carry a bucket full of the coppers while shopping. world's fair. The coins came from Sweden,

He is a man from a prominent family of Georgia, and his pride prevents him from making known his necessities to his friends. He has been prominent in one of the professions, but became addicted to intemperance and almost destroyed his life and usefulness. The participants in the lively encounter are both well known in the city.

Mr. J. C. Bridger is the Broad street coal dealer and Mr. J. A. Buchanan is employed in the shoe department at Ryan's on Whitehall street.

For a year or more Mr. Buchanan's son has been employed by Mr. Bridger as collector. The young man's services were satisfactory, but on last Saturday night he was suspended. The cause of his sion was that the dull season which always begins with the summer months had set in and Mr. Bridger did not have work to keep him busy. When the young man left he was paid all

Once or twice this week young Buch called on his former employer to receive what was due him, but Mr. Bridger did not pay him. Buchanan says that on his second visit to Mr. Bridger's office, Mr. Bridger found fault with his work and told him that he had been late in getting to Young Buchanan reported the matter to his father and the latter became very indignant.

Yesterday afternoon after getting through work Mr. Buchanan called on Mr. Bridger at his office on Broad street. He was very indignant and talked pretty roughly to the coal dealer. He demanded of Mr. Bridger to explain why his son had not been paid off. He grew very loud in his remarks and rew very loud in his remarks and said: 'Now, if you don't pay my son you'll have

This time Mr. Bridger followed and he carried a cane in his hand. Mr. Buchanan ran into Mr. J. J. McClendon's commission house, next door, and Mr. Bridger followed closely.

Bridger followed closely.

Mr. Bridger came upon Mr. Buchanan inside the store and proceeded to use his cane on him. Three times he struck Buchanan over the head, shattering his stick.

At this juncture Captain Thompson appeared and stopped the fight by arresting both gentlemen.

Atlenta is getting to be either a very hig ity or a very bad city. The police records of the past two days-londay and Tuesday—talk in a telling way Monday and Tuesday—talk in a cupon this matter.

In those two days fifty-nine persons were sent to the city stockade, to serve out sentences, and about that number paid fines and were released.

The aggregate number of days which these fifty-nine convicts will have to spend in the city's service is 570.

For two days this is a big record, and as streed above, proves one of two things. stated above, proves Which?

It is, thought that Columbus has a very strong team, so that close and exciting games may be looked for. The Albany team has made several changes in its players. Turner has been released, and has left the city, Jahns, the well-known shortstop of the Macon team, flas been signed, and arrived in the city last night. Jahns is a splendid player, and his work will add greatly to the strength of the team. Another player who has been engaged is Wilson, of Montgomery. He is a splendid first baseman, as well as a pitcher, and is remembered as the man who pitched such a fine game for Cordele last year. Wilson is expected to arrive in the city either this afternoon or tonight.

HIT BY A STREET CAR. A Mule Becomes Unruly and a Car Run

Into the Wagon. Another street railway accident.
And it ended without fatal results only by the merest scratch.
The accident occurred on the West Peachtree street line yesterday afternoon.
At that time in country wagon loaded with produce and offven by a lady was standing on the corner of West Peachtree and Parker streets.

on the corner of West Peachtree and Parker streets.

The wagon was drawn by a mule, and he stood quietly on the street corner, without the least appearance of animation.

An electric car came clanging up behind the wagon, but as the wagon was clear of the track the driver sat quietly in her place.

When the car was within a few feet of the wagon the mule began to show signs of fright and an animation that would never have seemed possible.

The frightened mule began backing, and a few steps placed the wagon across the track, squarely in front of the car.

In another instant the car crashed into the wagon, demolishing it and throwing the old lady out.

The motorman stopped the car almost instantly and went to the rescue of the old lady, who lay on the ground.

She was found to be bruised about the head, but her injuries are not serious.

She said the motorman was not at all to blame for the accident.

The name of the old lady is Mrs. M. A. Wiggins. She lives a few miles from the divided to the common strength of produce.

Her escape yesterday was exceedingly narrow.

THERE WAS NO SENSATION. The Salvation Army Cases Promptly Dis-

The Salvation Army women who have been figuring rather prominently in the police court for some time, were up before the recorder again yesterday.

But the trial was short-lived, and the recorder was sayed a sensational scene in the courtroom.

The salvationists were on hand in force, and were prepared to give the spectators in the recorder's courtroom such a scene as their curious eyes have not feasted upon in many days.

The case was set for a hearing at half-past 9 o'clock, but a few minutes before that time seven or eight members of the army wearing full uniforms, and led by Captain Martha Davis, one of the defendants, stationed themselves rear police headquarters and began a service of song and prayer.

service of song and prayer.

The court and police authorities were the objects of their prayers, and they lifted up their voices in hallelujah songs in such a way as to attract a good-sized crowd.

Promptly at 0.30 o'clock the sulvationists marched up to the recorder's courtroom and took their positions in front of Judge Calloum. houn.

Their faces wore expectant looks, and they were prepared to break out singing and praying as soon as the case was terminated, as they fully expected from the warning given them at a previous trial by the recorder, that the defendants would be fined.

But the cese ended quickly. It was the first called, and the two defendants—Captain Martha Davis and Sarah Smith—stepped smitingly to the front.

"Who is the officer in this case?" asked Recorder Calhoun.

"Special Officer Martin, of the Kimball

"Who is the officer in this case?" asked Recorder Calhoun.

"Special Officer Martin, of the Kimball house," answered Glerk Glenn. And the officer was called for in a lusty voice by Uncle Jimmie Parish, the court balliff.

He did not respond even after he rad been repeatedly called for.

"I will postpone the case," said the recorder. "until the officer appears. In the meantime the defendants may go until they are summoned to appear, again."

This was unexpected by the salvationists, and all that it left for them to do was to leave—without singing and praying.

The spectators were disappointed and the court officers looked pleased.

But those spectators may, within a few days, witness just such a scene as they expected yesterday.

CITY NOTES.

The painful intelligence came yesterday morning of the death of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. William 'H. Inman. A few days since, they took him to the seashore at St. Simons. Yesterday they brought his little lifteless form back to their home. Their many relatives and friends sympathize deeply. many relatives and friends sympathize deeply with this young couple in the loss of their darling child. May God comfort them in this hour of trial. The funeral will take place from the family residence, 478 Penchtree, this afternoon at 4:30. Interment at Oakland.

Among the prominent Georgians who were in the city yesterday were: Hon. Hal Lewis, of Greene county; Judge Hamp McWhorter, of the northeastern circuit; Judge Alex Erwin, of Athens; Rev. Dr. J. G. Gibson, of Crawfold; Hon. A. T. McIntyre, of Thomasville.

"There's something I want to say in the papers," said Patrolman T. J. Barrow last night, "and that is I don't want any more peddlers, book agents or any kind of solicitors to call at No. 26 Fitzgerald street. That's where I live, and they have just been bothering the life out of me lately."

Little Lena Sugarman, the little girl who was killed by an electric car Sunday after-noon, was buried yesterday.

The funeral of Mrs. R. G. Wilson, wife of Patrolman Wilson, will occur at Forest Station today. A delegation of policemen will accompany the remains to the train. A young boy, ragged and dirty, was found weeping under the Calhoun street culvert yesterday. He gave his name as Johnny Priest and said he was from Augusta. Without parents or friends in the world the young boy had come to Atlanta to get work. He spent last night at the police station. Mr. Clarence E. James, charged with embezzlement, has been acquitted. He was arrested in this city a few months ago and taken to Hagerstown, Md., for trial. The testimony showed that his accounts were all right, but an error had been made in the examination. He has returned to Atlanta, and is back with the New Home Sewing Machine Company, and the very many friends whom he has made since he came to Atlanta are congratulating him heartily upon the exoneration and triumphant acquittal. CHARTERS ASKED FOR.

Application has been made for a charter for the Westmoreland-Crawford Drug Company. The capital stock is to be $6,000, with the privilege of increasing it to $50,000. Freston C. Westmoreland, Paul Faver and John H. Crawford are the incorporators.

Harwood Seminary Commencement.

Marietta, Ala., June 14.—(Special.)—
Harwood seminary is now in the midst of her commencement work and the sweet school girl clad in her white commencement dress both captivates the eye and charms the ear with her accomplishments. In all probability this is the last year of Harwood seminary and of the Marietta Male academy. The town has yielded to the demands of the day and voted to have public schools. These two buildings will be rented and hereafter a public school organization will supply the educational needs of the town.

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, June 14.—The unusual animation in the stock market yesterday was entirely lacking today, and the bulk of the tradiag was again concentrated upon a few stocks, among which. St. Paul, Burlington, New England and Reading were alone coaspituous. The first prices were irregularly changed from those of last evening, while St. Paul was off 5-8, New England was up the same amount. Grangers were early features, but New England followed closely, and postponemen: of suits against Reading combine was interpreted to mean their practical abandonment, and Coalers then became very picminent in dealings, while sciring material gains. Early demand was soon satisfied, and duliness at times was quite oppressive, but there was a renewal of buying in the last hour, which sent Grangers and Chicago Gas up over 1 per cent further. fully revealing the source of buying. Outside of the few stocks mentioned, there was a sibarp upward movement in Cordage, but the rest of the list was traded in within narrowed limits throughout the day, while following closely the temper of leaders. The market, under stimulus of late buying, closed active and strong, with the leading shares at the highest of the day. The marked gains include Burlington, 2-8-8 per cent; Rock Island, 2: New England and Chicago Gas, 17-8; Cordage, 15-8; Lackawanna, 13-8, and Reading, 11-8, Sales listed, 278,000 shares; unlisted, 6,000 shares. NEW YORK, June 14.—On account of the interruption of the telegraphic service, the market opened about steady, and was very dull during the morning hours. Europe sold a few stocks, but the big bears were again on the defensive, and did not dare attack values. Some of the traders tried their hands at it and sold stocks, but they failed to make much of an impression. In the last hour the bulls turned the tables again, and under the lead of Chicago, Burlington and Quincy the market rallied sharply. The biggest buyer today in Burlington and Quincy was the Clark-Dodge party, and this made the shorts run, and, as they met with very little stock, their pace was quite rapid. New England recovered somewhat from yesterday's decline, and in this stock also the bears evened up their position. The bulls have, it seems, full control of the present speculation, and they appear determined to make every short in the market cover. It looks as if they would be successful. It is hard to judge how much of a short interest has been created in the last two months, but it must have been considerable, judging from the loan crowd. J. S. Bache & Co.'s Stock Letter.

Lehman Bros. Cetton Letter.

NEW YORK, June 14—The market this morning opened a few points lower on the easier reports from Liverpool. Shortly after the first trading New Orleans receipts were posted, and these again showing exceptionally heavy further weakened values which, however, would doubtless not have been of any serious extent, but that shortly after a message reached the exchange bearing upon the Hatch bill, and as has been the case so often lately, the very mention of this measure created an unfavorable sentiment, and the was more noticeable in New Orieans than here, they continuing quite easy, and with but a nominal change throughout the day. The actual situation has not changed either as regards the natural progress of the crop or the developments in Washington. The last named seems to be in statu quo for the moment, as no one can state what the outcome may be. The greater portion of the recent decline is due to this fact more than anything eise. Liverpool cables speak of fair realizing on the part of the bulls in that market, and today is shown the first evidence of this fact for some time. The immediate future will be governed by circumstances as they arise, and which cannot at this moment be predicted.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, June 14—The slowest markets for weeks were those on 'change today. Business was decidedly under the average volume. Telegraphic lines were badly demoralized, and this may have helped to keep back calamity information, as it certainly restricted business. Wheat left off 1½6 below last night's stopping point, and corn declined ½6% to. pling point, and corn declined %@%o.
Provisions were firm, but wound up substantially without change as compared with 24 hours previous.
The leading futures ranged as sellows in Chicago

Lamson Bros. & Co.'s Grain Letter. By Frivate Wire to A. P. Youngblood. CHICAGO, June 14.—Yesterday's storm played havoc with the telegraph wires, placing almost an embargo on the market. London cables reported higher for spot, lower for futures, Liverpool nominally unchanged, and Berlin and Paris lower and depressed. Paris futures, Liverpool nominally unchanged, and Berlin and Paris lower and depressed. Paris markets are depressed, owing to the favorable commencement of harvest and the fall of much-needed rain. One report from Russia says the condition is favorable. Receipts at Minneapolis and Duluth continue large, and the weather throughout the United States is generally favorable. On the whole, the outlook is not very encouraging to holders. A renewal of telegraphic communication with the outside world may, however, materially change the appearance.

There was a fair local trade in corn, and some heavy buying by a few houses, said to be for strong parties who are going long again with a view of another rise. This had a tendency to steady prices, the opening and the close being about the same figure. The receipts were large, and should they continue so for any length of time there will be difficulty in sustaining any advance from the present price. It is true, continued buying will put the market up, but the advance will bring the corn for speculators, even though they succeed in advancing it but a few cents above the requirements for domestic and foreign use.

The demand for oats is extraordinarily above the requirements for domestic and for-eign use.

The demand for oats is extraordinarily brisk, but the supply seems large. The near approach to harvest will cause numerous speculators to forsake the long side.

Under a good demand ribs remained strong all day. Lard was weaker, owing to liberal selling by some of the packers. There was no special feature in pork.

PAILROAD NEWS

Cal Brice Talks About Situation.

SOUTH IS THE BEST FIELD.

Good Plan of Beorganization Is Already Prepared and Will Probably Be Offered to Drexel, Morgan & Co.

Mr. Samuel Spencer will put his report in the hands of Drexel, Morgan & Co. very sortly now. Mr. Maselin is well along with his examination of the small branches. What the banking house will do or say one can tell, but it is expected that the ers will express a willingness to untake the reorganization on stiff terms.

Some large fee, possibly $10,000,000, will some of the conditions. Then absolute control of the properties during the reorgan-tedon will be demanded. How much time ill be required to formulate a plan no can tell. Possibly one can be put for-wird in an unexpectedly short time.

There is at least one plan in existence which has never been acted on. It was preared several months ago and filed away a safe. This plan was prepared with t care and takes in every security in Terminal's properties. A gentleman o has seen it and examined it thoroughly who has seen it and examined it theroughly are that it is a good plan, radical, per-laps, but on the right line. The chances are that this plan will be tendered to brevel, Morgan & Co. for their considera-

The first mortgage bondholders of several of the lines are ready to jump in and object any scaling down of their holdings.

These security holders are in position to the their own terms, but the others will re to give and take. Mr. Spencer's conversation while in Attaindicated that he favored preserving Richmond and Danville and the East necesse systems about as they are as to ordinate lines.

Tennessee systems about as they are as to mordinate lines. In this connection an interview with Senator Cal Brice, of the Terminal, which we published in Sunday's New York Heridia to the James of the Senator Brice said that he thinks the day for great railroad development in the United States is past. He prosumed the south the best field for development. Here is an extract from the interview.

There is an extract trunk lines, with country has all of these it can carry. In building will be in lateral lines and in treinsion of the present system. The only real trunk line now in course of constructions is the Great Northern, which is to run tom St. Paul and Duluth to Seattle, and is to extend rorth to Vancouver. Ten thousand are now at work on this road, and it will be put through very soon. It goes beongh a rich country, and though it touches to Northern Pacific at one or two points, it is its own territory and it will have a trade it sown."

a Railroad Trust Impossible.

"How about a great railroad consolidation, leater Brice? Will we ever have a vast nifroad trust which will control all the railmost of the United States?"

"No," replied the railroad senator, "I do not bink such a thing possible, and if it were resible, the people would really control it. It is rich man or corporation of rich men is given as big as public opinion, and that really controls the railroads of today. Railroad residents and railroad managers realize that hey are only the servants of the people, and the people and the railroads are coming doser together every year. The roads are swomanged more in the interests of the people than they have ever been, and their was are studied by the managers. As to escolidations, these occur only along the natural lines of ousiness, and combination upon my other principle would result in an unfieldy mass and would break of itself."

"Must are the prospects for the Intercontents railway?"

"I have no doubt that to will be built," replied Mr. Brice, "and that you will see it a late to ur generation. Almost haif of it is already carstructed, and we will some day go by rail from the McKenzie river to Buenos Ayrs. Why, as it is, you can go from Briffin Columbia to below the City of Mexico by alroad, and there are more than one thousand miles of road in Central and Soath America in operation right along this line. The Nicaragua canal will be completed, and this and the Intercontinental railway will it the two continents together.

"The south is the great coming field for development, and i believe it is the best investment field for today. The west is filled up now, and from now on, the tide of emigration will be southward. The south is full of recourses. It has vast areas of good land, and its mineral possibilities are inconceivable. Feel look for an immense development all tree the south."

lis mineral possibilities are inconceivable. Its, I look for an immense development all over the south."

Railroad Rates.

"Bo you think that the rates of our freight and passenger fare will be lower in the future than they are now?"

"The rates have been going bown for the past twenty-two years," replied Senator Site, "and it would seem to me that they had about reached 'he bottom. Take two-hidts of a cent a ton for freight, and two cents a mile for passengers, and this would seem to be about the minimum. We have now as low rates as any country in the world, and we have only a small margin on which to run."

"How about the canal and water traffic of the future? Will this affect the railways?"

"Ro, I think not," was the reply, "though is wonderful what an immense shipping that we have in our lakes and rivers. There, is more shipping through the Detroit river in more shipping through the Detroit regions, which is carried down to the Ohio lake towns, and of coal from the Ohio coal fields, which is carried down to the Ohio lake towns, and of coal from the Ohio coal fields, which is carried down to the Ohio lake towns, and of coal from the Ohio coal fields, which is carried down to the Ohio lake towns, and the mass are on hills near the water, and the mass are on hills near the water, and the mass are on hills near the water, and the mass are on hills near the water, and the mass are on hills near the water, and the mass are on hills near the water, and the mass are on hills near the water, and the mass are on hills near the water, and the northern O

I would like to see our shipping extended, however, and I believe in encouraging all trade relations with other nations which will tend to bring this about. The United States will be the great England of the future. It will at some time do the manufacturing for a great part of the world, and its ships will sail to every part of the world carrying its products."

ENFORCING THE LAW For the Collection of Taxes from the Rail-

Augusta, Ga., June 14.—(Special.)—The Georgia Railroad and Banking Company has complied with the state law recently enacted by the legislature, requiring all railroads in Georgia to pay municipal as well as county tax assessed by the comptroller general. The legal aspect of this law was contested in the supreme court, and the court decided that it was valid. The decision will increase Augusta's revenue $38,000 a year. The municipal tax against the Georgia road for 1891 was $20,183.88 which has been paid into the city treasury. In fact all the roads entering Augusta have paid this tax except the Augusta, Gibson and Sandersville railroad, which has no money to pay it with. This income is considered a big pick up. Mayor Alexander, who is a Georgia railroad director, says this law is considered a hardship upon the corporations. He says the Georgia railroad bank has to pay 1 1-4 per cent on all loans and discounts, and last year this bank's earnings were about $65. Georgia railroad bank has to pay 1 1-4 per cent on all loans and discounts, and last year this bank's earnings were about $65,-000 and $51,000 of it had to be paid out for taxes. The mayor says the Georgia railroad's attorney says there no use to make a fight, but he says the directors will devise some scheme to escape the applica-tion of the law.

FIGHTING FOR A LOW RATE-

Third Party Men Thought They Were Discriminated Against.

The third party delegates to Omaha have been working for several days to get a rate of one fare for the round trip to the convention next month. This rate was given by the Southern Passenger Association to both the Chicago and Minneapolis conventions, while a rate of one and one-third fare was fixed for the Omaha convention.

The explanation given at the time was that there was no information before the association to shew how much travel could reasonably be expected to Omaha.

The East Tennessee has been figuring on handling large travel to the Omaha convention and was anxious for the low rate. Of course, the delegates were anxious, too, and they thought that the hitch was resentment on the part of the passenger association at the demand for government control of the roads. It was understood last night that a one-fare rate will be granted today.

ANOTHER LARGE VERDICT-The Richmond and Danville Mulcted in the City Court. The jury in the case of W. J. Mitchell against the Richmond and Danville Railroad Company yesterday brought in a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $9,800. Mitchell was injured while in the employ of the railroad company in Alabama, and brought suit for the injuries. The case has been vigorously contested by both sides in Judge Westmoreland's division of the city court of Atlanta. Messrs. Glenn & Slaton represented the plaintiff, and Messrs. Jackson and Jackson the railroad company.

To the Head of Navigation Raleigh, N. C., June 14.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce here this evening, preliminary arrangements were made for the construction of a railway from Raleigh to Averasboro, the head of navigation on the Cape Fear river. The length of the road is thirty-one miles, and the cost is estimated at $156,000. Raleigh capitalists will take the bonds.

These gentlemen are pushing, energetic and active, and since coming to Atlanta have made a splendid business record. Now that they have absolute control of this brand of beer, it is reasonable to suppose, and is confidently predicted, that the sale of the Schlitz goods will be greatly increased.

The Inaugural Performance of MacCollin's Opera Company a Blooming Success. The pretty little Edgewood Avenue theater was filled last night, and everybody there enjoyed a charming little opera. It was a packed house, indeed, that greeted the new opera singers and if the deafen ed the new opera singers and if the deafening encores given time and time again last night count for aught the appreciation of good singing runs so high in Atlanta that the people will go to hear these singers again and again.

The play was "Falka" and it went off quite merrily, indeed. Here is the cast, which ought to tell the whole story of the success of the play:

MacCollin, the military governor, was a hit.

Harry Leonard, as usual, caught the house with a topical song and was called before the footlights just as often as he went away until he sang himself out of verses and had nothing more to sing.

Applest tenor was sweet and clear and as smooth as could well be. It was one of the voices that made the audience want more of it every time, but Frank Pearson's basso was great. The management may well congratulate themselves on securing this man. He is a strong member of the company—one of the strongest.

But, what's the use of particularizing? The play was well rendered and very well received. They have made a decided hit from the very outset and that is doing well.

Of course, being the first time the play has been given by the company, it was just a little raw to close observers, but hardly perceptibly so. "Falka" will be sung every evening this week.

WHERE IS SABRA?

The Thirteen-Year-Old Danghter of E. W. Kirby Missing.

Her Strange Disapp Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Kirby, the parents of the missing girl, live in the country just outside of Cartersville. They are old people, and all their children have married except thirteen-year-old Sabra, a darkhaired and dark-eyed lassie. She was the idol and pet of her father and mother, and they gratified every wish of hers that was in their power.

About ten days ago a man came to the Kirby household and spent the night He gave his name as Dr. C. A. Linder, and was traveling in a canvas-covered wagon drawn by a horse. He said he was going to Hartwell where he lived. Now, it so happened that Sabra had been

Last week they received a letter from Sabra, without postmark and without date. It said that she was sick and was suffering deeply and wanted to come home. She begged them to come for her. From the letter it was plain that Sabra was not in Hartwell and that something was wrong.
They at once instituted a search, coming first to Atlanta and notifying Chief Wright. Since then Mr. Kirby has visited a number of towns and cities in northeast Georgia, looking for her.

Was She in Atlanta? Mas She in Atlanta?

Monday night an old man and a little girl answering to the discription of Sabra rode down Decatur in a wagon. At the corner of Decatur and Butler streets, the wagon stopped and the man went into a store to make some purchases, leaving the little girl sitting alone in the wagon. She was crying bitterly and attracted a great deal of attention.

A number of persons asked her what was the matter, and she said she could not tell,

It Is a Genuine Treat.

We mean Hoyt's Jersey butter, beyond all doubt the best butter ever brought to Atlanta; uniformity in grade, richness of flavor, absolute purity, are its qualities. It is all bought from one dairy, situated in the bluegrass country, and hence always uniform, always of that fine rich color and flavor which blue grass alone imparts to fine Jersey butter. As soon as we receive it we put it in a refrigerator and it is delivered to your house in an ice box. Now, isn't it a treat to have no more poor butter, no more stale butter, no more melted buttet, but instead, always the same high grade Jersey? We are furnishing that quality of butter every day, and can supply you. Ask any of our many pleased customers about our butter and them, take their advice and come and do likewise, and the butter problem will trouble you no longer.

Another treat is our Rijamo coffee. We call it a treat because we mean it, for nothing is more exhilarating and enjoyable than a cup of fine coffee, and our Rijamo is the highest grade coffee that can be found. It is a combination of Mandeling Java, Mocha and Maracaibo, and the blend gives a coffee of fine aroma and of elegant flavor. It is always sold at 35 cents, cheaper than you can buy a lower grade elsewhere.

We also propose to offer to our customers some big bargains. How is salmon at 15 cents per can? That is the price it will go at for the next week; also, fine brook trout at 15 cents, fine imported herring at 15 cents, canned mackerel at 15 cents, Sunbeam corn at 15 cents, fine imported herring at 15 cents, canned mackerel, herring and Sunbeam corn at 15 cents ac ne each. Isn't that cheap enough?

Our low price on blackberry jam will hold good until all is sold. Full quart jars of homemade, pure and best quality of blackberry jam at 60 cents. We expect you are about out of all of your own, so come and get some, which is just as good and about as cheap as you can make it.

What Is Going On in Atlanta and The Question Answered by Actual Expe-

Beginning with a Yoke of Oxen and Small Tract of Land Has Accomplished Wonders.

Carrollton, Ga., June 12.—(Special.)— Does farming pay? This is a question that studied out. Your correspondent spent a day and night recently with one of those farmers whose success in his chosen profession is a correct answer to the question,

Tompkins, whose farm is located four niles north of Franklin, Heard county. I will give here a short history of the success of this wonderful young farmer, so that the farmer readers of The Constitution can be benefited by his methods, if tion cancbe benefited by his methods, if they choose to imitate or follow his methods. Mr. Tompkins is a practical farmer, not a farmer on paper.

Nicholas Tompkins was a prominent citizen of Heard county a half century ago, and his large estate consisted in lands lying north of the county site, Franklin. He died thirty years ago, leaving several children, Ben Hill Tompkins, the subject of our sketch, being the youngest and only two years old at the death of his father. The Tompkins estate consisted of 4,700 acres of land.

The noted and much beloved Georgian, Hon. Benjamin H. Hill, wound up the Tompkins estate, and in accordance with the will kept the large body of land together, to be divided between the several children as they became of age.

gether, to be divided between the several children as they became of age.

After the estate was wound up, the management was left to the older Tompkins children, and they run in debt, and in a few years the great estate was divided out between the nine children and soon had to be sold to satisfy obligations made by the different heirs. Young Ben Hill's part of the estate was 500 acres. At the age of eight years he heard his old mother lamenting the condition of the estate, she saving that years he heard his old mother lamenting the condition of the estate, she saying that it was her husband's wish and hers that this fine body of land would always be owned by the Tompkins heirs, and the brave young boy promised his mother then that he would never drink a drop of liquor, nor chew nor smoke tobacco, which promise he has kept well, and he also promised her that he would, when he got grown, buy up all the old land estate, which was owned by some twenty or thirty different all the old land estate, which was owned by some twenty or thirty different parties, and keep it all together. At sixteen Mrs. Tompkins set her youngest son, Ben Hill Tompkins, free to work for himself. This was just sixteen years ago, and makes Mr. Tompkins just thirty-two.

Mr. Tompkins started out farming for himself at sixteen. He had nothing to begin with but fifteen bushels of corn and a yoke of oxen. He exchanged his oxen for a small mule, and the first year's crop turned him out two bales of cotton and 300 bushels of corn. The second year he made five bales of cotton, the third ten, the fourth twenty-seven, the fifth year fifty bales, and now he makes from one hundred and fifty to two hundred bales a year. Year before last Mr. Tompkins made 4,500 bushels of corn.

last Mr. Tompkins made 4,000 busnels of corn.

During the sixteen years of farm life Mr. Tompkins has not bought a bushel of corn nor a pound of meat. He has sold over one thousand bushels of corn this year and he has several corn cribs left yet that are full. Mr. Tompkins runs thirty-six plows, and he cultivates his large farm by tenants, who farm on halves. He never buys corn meat, etc., but raises such to sell every year. He has 750 acres in pasture, some of which is sown in grasses, and he raises stock. He has beeves to kill at all times during the summer. He has a fine bunch of sheep and makes money off their wool. Mr. Tompkins has twenty head of colts now and for the last ten years he has sold from one to two thousand dollars worth of horse stock yearly, and about three hundered dellars worth of cover.

horse stock yearly, and about three hundred dollars worth of cows.

Mr. Tompkins has kept his word with his mother which he gave her when he was only eight years old. He owns the whole old Tompkins land estate of 4,700 acres and some more besides.

Mr. Tompkins works hard. He often makes a regular hand at the plow.

Here is what Ben Hill Tompkins has done: He commenced sixteen years ago with 500 acres of woodland land, fifteen bushels of corn and a pair of oxen. Now he owns 5,000 acres of land, fifty head of horses, as many of cattle and double that number of sheep, logs, etc., and is a good liver at home. He has an interesting family. Mr. Tompkins's success in farming fully answers the question, "Does farming Pay."

Two Shares Get a Lot.

The High Point Cumberland Island Company gives a lot 50x150 feet, near the hotel, to every person who subscribes for two shares of its stock, which costs $100 a share payable in four monthly installments of $25 each, to be paid when $50 shares are subscribed. The money paid in on these shares goes into the hands of trustees, who guarantee that it will be applied to building a first-class modern hotel, a rallroad from the hotel to the ocean beach, bathhouses, to fencing and stocking with game the two-thousand-acre game park, and an artesian well; and all of these comforts are to be owned by the stockholders who take shares, and on their stock it is believed they will receive a good interest dividend and at the same time own a lot for every two shares taken. There is only one great sort of Clothing store possible these days—the store that manufactures and sells its own goods. Isn't it plain as the sun? There are, say ninety average-sized men out of every hundred. They're all the manufacturer who wholesales his products makes for. The dealer who buys it gets for no more. We make for the whole hundred—the slim and the stout, the large and the unusual sized. We gather the best things that are to be had, and we gather for everybody's wants.

For the last month we have had extraordinary business. Extraordinary in many ways. First we had many hundred dollars' worth of Fine Homespuns, Worsteds, Tweeds, Cheviots, Serges, and Light Cassimeres that we wanted turned into quick money. So we made them up into
